

Andersen Flaps Incorporated

There is a knock-off of our Eco-flaps on the market. The company that produces this flap is trying to ride on our testing and research and selling their product with an inferior warranty that you have to read twice to understand. To date, they have done zero testing for durability, spray improvement, and fuel consumption improvement.

Their knock-off is made with an inferior material. The same material that we rejected in testing years ago due to breakage in sub-zero temperatures. This cheaper material is why they can charge less for their product.

Also, their design is faulty. Because the bars and small openings on their flap run vertically, (and water comes off of tires at an upward angle) the water shoots through their flap without making contact.

The openings are not large enough to do a good job of air transmission. You'll receive almost no fuel economy improvement.

Please do not confuse their knock off with the Eco-flap. If the flap does not say Andersen Flaps or Eco-flaps on it, then it is not our aerodynamic Eco-flaps!
